Teaching children about holidays their family may not celebrate helps to develop empathy and awareness of others.

Offers an opportunity to discover ways we are alike: joy of gathering with friends and family, respect for history, love for children.

Can serve as a springboard for discussion of how the child's family celebrates holidays, whether it be Chanukah or any other.

- Serves as a springboard for homeschool/classroom discussion:

- Ask the child who celebrates Chanukah to describe how their family celebrates this holiday, possibly bringing items in to share
- Share ways other winter holidays are celebrated and in what ways they are similar
- Play the dreidel game; learn a Chanukah song
- Bake or purchase a traditional Chanukah food to share (latkes with applesauce, challah, jelly donuts, chocolate coins)
