EPIC HISTORIC ADVENTURES FEARLESS FREDERIC * A GREAT ESCAPE THE BOY AND THE SPY

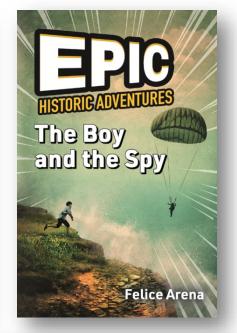

Felice Arena

Historical Fiction | Ages 10+ | Paperback | 5 x 7 ¾ | 176 pp | $5.99 Frederic ISBN: 978-1-68464-538-1 LOC: 2022934497 | Escape ISBN: 978-1-68464-539-8 LOC: 2022934496 Boy ISBN: 978-1-68464-537-4 LOC: 2022934491

Thrilling stories set in tumultuous times for middle grade readers!

- Friendship, family, fast-paced adventure.
- Interesting, exciting, accessible.
- Foreign words scattered throughout and carefully rendered settings add authenticity.
- Ideal for reluctant readers.
- Kindle interest in further historical research.

uns and now you'll be able to make contact vith your –" "No! No!" says Chris when he sees the radio. "Oh, tonio has been waiting for this moment all and morning. He's so excited by how Chris t react that he got no sleep the night before. think you're really going to like this," he says, ing out the field radio. "I

Two nor: styps Lnns when ne sees the halo. "On, id, what have you done?" Antonio is confused. He can't tell if Chris is angry rupset. "You don't like it?" Chris sight. "Tis not about whether or not 1 like . You're risking enough already. Stealing from ierman soldiers puts your life in peril." "Im sory..." Antonio asys, sattled by the volved you in the first place. I didn't think ugh about the fact that I'm putting a child in child!" he snaps. "I'm almost thirt telp and I can help. You said you tdio. Well, here it is!" l a radio. Well, here it is!" pression relaxes a little. "You've got a lo m, kid, I'll give you that," he says. Ther varmly at Antonio. "You did get a radio n radio is set y from an Allied radio. Only the Resistant

